Who is behind Parcelshipper

Parcelshipper.co.uk is run by a global wholesale courier company since 2005 which provided global courier services primarily to other companies with the courier industry. In October 2011 we decided to launch Parcelshipper.co.uk upon the world, we will use our superior knowledge of the courier industry to save our customers millions of pounds every year. We will do this because we only use the two courier companies ensuring the biggest discounts. (You dont need two dozen shipping options, even we get confused when there is too much choice!) The more parcels we send the cheaper our services will become, our aim is to become the biggest online parcel service provider in the UK.

Thousands of businesses, individuals, eBay sellers and organisations use courier services on a daily basis, the majority pay an inflated price because the shipments go through too many hands, we streamline this process get your item collected by the courier company that will deliver it. We can offer these services to anybody, anywhere, you can even organise a collection from another address in the UK or a third country if you like. We can collect and send from and to anywhere!
